

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A golf course management system comprising a plurality of planar pages, a first of said pages having printed information relating to playing a particular golf course hole, a second of said selected pages having printed information relating to terms and symbols for playing a selected hole.
2. The management system of claim 1 wherein said terms include printed information representing the types of golf clubs used to play a course hole.
3. The management system of claim 1 wherein said symbols comprise printed information representing sand traps, water hazards and trees.
4. The management system of claim 3 wherein said symbols further include printed information representing, for a particular shot, the golf ball flight, the yardage a golf ball travels, whether the golf ball was sliced or hooked and whether the golf ball was on target.
5. The management system of claim 1 wherein a third page forming said system first and second surface sections formed thereon, printed information representing the course being played being formed in one of said sections and printed information representing player comments in said second section.

6. The management system of claim 1 wherein one of said selected planar pages has first, second, third, fourth and fifth surface sections formed by the printing of information thereon, first said surface sections having printed information representing a tee on a selected hole, said second section having printed information for comments about said selected hole, said third section having printed information representing the number of strokes taken for the selected hole, said fourth section having printed information representing the hole number being played and said section having printed information representing par for the selected hole.

7. The management system of claim 6 wherein another of said selected planar sheets has a plurality of surface sections formed by the printing of information thereon, one section having a blank area for inserting information relating to the hole green, a second section having printed information representing the ball speed on the green, a third section having printed information representing the slope of the green and a fourth section having printed information for comments on the green.